READ HOW LEGAL AID HELPED LEEANN NAVIGATE THE JUSTICE SYSTEM ON PAGE 5.
Civil legal aid is critical to fulfilling our nation’s promise of justice for all. ABLE and LAWO serve people of all backgrounds and ages, including the most vulnerable who face the toughest civil legal challenges: children, veterans, seniors, people with disabilities, and survivors of domestic violence. As the primary providers of free legal services for low-income people in our service area, our work is to ensure that no individual or family in our community is deprived of access to professional legal assistance solely because of an inability to pay.

Those who come to us for help are in crisis, with most facing financial emergencies and struggling to meet life’s basic needs. The numbers of people living in poverty is staggering—48 percent of the U.S. population is considered poor or low-income. That is one in every two people.

Behind the numbers are real people—our friends and neighbors—who deserve the chance to achieve genuine and lasting improvement in their quality of life. The pressures of poverty, including housing and medical costs, inadequate government safety net programs, and poor educational opportunities, are what bring people to the breaking point.

Our advocates help navigate the justice system for those who do not understand how to do it for themselves, or who cannot afford a private attorney. We are dedicated to empowering people to rebuild their lives and become independent and self-sufficient. Our work combines community outreach, education, litigation, and legislative advocacy—all aimed at making a real difference in the lives of our clients and our communities.
These numbers do not include the additional thousands of people who have benefited from materials and information on our website, pro bono legal assistance clinics, attendance at community legal education presentations and trainings, continuing legal education presentations for lawyers, and outreach visits to homeless and domestic violence shelters, senior centers, health clinics, nursing homes, and migrant labor camps.

* obtained benefits and awards in areas of child support, spousal support, unemployment compensation, supplemental security income, debt write-off, disability assistance, food stamps, and damages.
MEETING THE NEED FOR LEGAL AID IN OUR COMMUNITY

According to our Constitution, people charged with a crime must have a court-appointed attorney if they cannot afford to hire an attorney on their own. There is no such right for people needing legal assistance for matters like domestic violence, child custody, housing, employment, or health care. LAWO and ABLE work to ensure that justice is available and secure for vulnerable, low-income people living in northwest and west central Ohio.

ABLE and LAWO attorneys and advocates work in areas where private attorneys usually do not, including representation of veterans, tenants, domestic violence survivors, low-income seniors, and those receiving public assistance. We also work with a wide range of community partners to address community-wide problems. Our attorneys have experience helping vulnerable people in a time of crisis, including those facing a loss of housing and financial security and experiencing threats to their safety.

Resolving problems and enforcing basic legal rights strengthens families and improves our communities for us all. Together, LAWO and ABLE have developed Strategic Advocacy Initiatives that focus our work where it is needed most in the communities we serve. We recognize that every client has different, individual needs, and we work to meet those needs through a full range of services to both rural and urban communities within our service area.

We believe that equal justice is achievable and we will continue our efforts—working together with clients and our community partners—to make it a reality.

OUR STRATEGIC ADVOCACY INITIATIVES

- Healthcare & Public Benefits
- Women & Children in Poverty
- Meaningful Access to Justice
- Meaningful & Appropriate Education
- Agricultural Worker & Immigrant Rights
- Housing & Community Economic Development
HEALTHCARE & PUBLIC BENEFITS

We recognize that access to quality healthcare and public benefits is vital for families struggling in poverty. Our advocates focus on access to short-term or long-term benefits as a necessary part of creating opportunities for families to improve their quality of life and achieve self-sufficiency. Our advocacy also seeks to reduce health disparities in low-income and minority communities and encourages participation in public benefits programs and services in the least restrictive environment.

JEANETTE’S STORY

After moving from one county in Ohio to another, Jeanette saw her Food Assistance benefit drop down to only $16 per month. This gave the frail senior fifty cents per day for food. She could not understand why she had been approved for so little assistance to support herself.

LAWO intervened for Jeanette, leading to a modest increase in her food allowance, but still not enough to live on. Advocates then requested a state hearing and negotiated on her behalf. It turned out that the department had improperly calculated Jeanette’s benefits. Her Food Assistance increased to a sustainable level, and Jeanette received retroactive payments as well. Her financial and nutritional status is much more secure.
MEANINGFUL ACCESS TO JUSTICE

Attorneys and other advocates inform and empower low-income persons about their legal rights and available resources and assistance through appropriate education and targeted outreach. In addition, we leverage technology to broaden access to justice for those who cannot afford attorney representation by making legal information, pro bono assistance, and pro se resources accessible. By building and maintaining community partnerships and relationships, we increase our ability to meet client needs.

WOMEN & CHILDREN IN POVERTY

Our advocates assist domestic violence survivors in escaping the violence and creating a safe and stable environment for themselves and their families through restraining orders, access to housing and economic stability, and immigration assistance. We work with survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, and stalking. In addition, our advocates provide legal assistance to human trafficking victims through a Human Trafficking Protection Project.

READ SHAUNA’S STORY ON PAGE 19.

MEANINGFUL & APPROPRIATE EDUCATION

We work to secure access to quality educational opportunities for children living in poverty, immigrant children, homeless children, children in foster care, and for children with disabilities. Our efforts focus on the disparities in the quality of education for children in poverty, particularly African American and Latino children, who are often served by schools that do not meet their needs and too often treat low-income children and their struggles as criminal matters instead of as educational needs.

READ SASHA’S STORY ON PAGE 31.

AGRICULTURAL WORKER & IMMIGRANT RIGHTS

We offer a variety of free legal services, information, and referrals to vulnerable agricultural workers and their families who are often subjected to systemic exploitation and civil rights abuses. We also work to ensure that low-income immigrants have access to quality legal services, advocacy, and educational information in order to stabilize their immigration status. We are committed to providing legal representation to immigrants and refugees in order to keep families together, build a stronger community, and protect victims of crime.

READ VIVIENNE’S STORY ON PAGE 15.
We strive to ensure that low-income individuals and families have access to safe, affordable housing, including the freedom and choice to access areas of opportunity and be connected with education, healthcare, employment, and other critical resources to improve the quality of life. We work closely with groups focusing on economic development activities to ensure that low-income individuals have the ability to participate in and benefit from development within their own communities.

LEEANN’S STORY

Leeann was trying to escape physical abuse from her husband and create a safe environment for her four-year-old daughter. However, her estranged husband continued the violence in front of their daughter during his parental visits in Leeann’s home. He was charged and arrested for domestic violence after Leeann reported the abuse to the police. Following through on her lease agreement, Leeann reported the abuse and arrests to her subsidized housing landlord. She was stunned when she received an eviction notice citing her for allowing a person onto the property who committed a crime. Unable to afford an attorney, Leeann reached out to ABLE for help. Her attorney successfully argued that Leeann’s housing rights were protected under the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) which prohibits subsidized housing landlords from evicting survivors due to incidents of violence. As a result, the eviction was dismissed and Leeann was able to retain her subsidized housing. In addition, Leeann’s positive outcome lead to the housing complex agreeing to revise its policies to be consistent with Fair Housing Act and VAWA protections and provide training for all of its staff.
KEEPING FAMILIES FROM LOSING THEIR HOMES

Being forced to leave your home is difficult for any family, but when the tenant’s rent subsidy is terminated, they are often forced to pay rent they cannot afford, ending up homeless or living in seriously compromised housing.

A series of clients who were terminated from a local housing authority program for minor alleged violations contacted LAWO attorneys for help. Their subsidies had been terminated for issues including failure to change lightbulbs or a single battery in a smoke detector, or for a dirty stove or a loose refrigerator handle. In some situations, the tenants had a disabling condition that prevented their compliance. In others, the defect was either not the obligation of the tenant, or simply not a violation of any regulation or law.

LAWO advocates aggressively challenged each of these cases, successfully keeping clients in their homes, or having them immediately rehoused in subsidized housing. Through negotiations with the housing authority, LAWO obtained an agreement limiting such drastic measures as termination from Section 8 to cases of serious and repeated violations, consistent with the law.

CRISIS STABILIZATION PROJECT

The Crisis Stabilization Project assists low-income persons in crisis seeking legal assistance to obtain information about their legal rights, prepare for court appearances or administrative hearings, and connect to appropriate resources and community partners.

In 2016 the Crisis Stabilization Project provided assistance to 1,933 individuals, including:

- 722 individuals seeking assistance with a housing matter;
- 488 individuals who recently experienced domestic violence;
- 167 individuals seeking to obtain or maintain public benefits;
- 42 individuals seeking assistance with healthcare or Medicaid; and
- 280 individuals seeking assistance with a consumer matter.

In collaboration with senior centers, nursing homes, senior housing, and community centers, LAWO brings legal services to vulnerable populations in or near their homes. Counsel and advice and limited legal assistance is provided by telephone, mail, or in person to stabilize a client’s situation in order to determine whether more help is available for them, or to help them resolve a relatively uncomplicated legal situation on their own.
STABILIZING FAMILIES THROUGH LEGAL HELP

Unresolved legal issues often affect family stability. For example, unmanageable debt makes it more difficult for low-income families and individuals to break the cycle of poverty, even if a person works hard to become more educated and self-sufficient. Debt resulting from long stretches of unemployment, medical costs, or overwhelmingly high interest rates becomes nearly impossible to pay down. In addition, low-income families are often penalized again when prospective employers or landlords conduct credit checks before hiring or renting to them.

For more than 15 years, LAWO advocates have worked to help stabilize the finances of Lucas County households by stopping or preventing wage garnishments, resolving judgment liens, and creating better credit opportunities. Our attorneys provide legal information, legal advice, and representation in hearings, appeals, and negotiations, all made possible with funding from the Lucas County Department of Job & Family Services (LCDJFS). By maintaining an on-site presence at the LCDJFS, and accepting referrals from other sources, LAWO attorneys are available to provide legal assistance to eligible individuals to remove the legal barriers hindering them from achieving family stability. Eligible clients consult with LAWO attorneys to identify and address issues such as divorce, child custody, or visitation arrangements; uncollected child or spousal support; financial uncertainty caused by unpaid bills; suspension or revocation of a driver’s license; unstable housing situations; transportation difficulties resulting from consumer fraud; criminal records sealing; domestic violence; and other unresolved legal issues.

Since 2011, LAWO attorneys have helped more than 300 clients discharge or remove approximately $8.9 million in debt. During this same period, LAWO helped 283 people obtain a divorce or dissolution, and obtained, preserved, or increased public benefits in 99 cases. LAWO's work has resulted in obtaining more than $124,000 in ongoing monthly installment payments and more than $153,000 in lump sum payments in family law and public benefit cases.
ABLE ADVOCACY

PROTECTING THE RIGHT TO QUALITY EDUCATION

As a result of the settlement of a case brought by ABLE and others, parents and guardians with limited English proficiency (LEP) are now able to better advocate for their children. ABLE and Disability Rights Ohio filed a complaint with the Office of Civil Rights at the U.S. Department of Justice, which was later referred to the U.S. Department of Education Office of Civil Rights, against seven local school districts and the Ohio Department of Education (ODE) and its Office for Exceptional Children. The complaint alleged that the school districts and the ODE discriminated against LEP children and parents on the basis of national origin and engaged in discriminatory practices, violating their obligations under various federal statutes. The Ohio school districts and ODE failed to provide translation of important educational documents and failed to provide appropriate interpreter services for parents and students, effectively denying them access to and participation in basic educational programming within the schools. Under the settlement, the school districts will create a process for identifying LEP parents and notifying them of the availability of free language assistance for school programs and activities. The school districts also are required to provide qualified interpreters at meetings, and critical written documents must be translated into the language of each frequently encountered LEP parent group. Examples of these documents include special education documents such as Individualized Educational Programs and evaluations; disciplinary notices and procedures; registration, enrollment and emergency forms; report cards; notices of parent-teacher conferences and meetings; parent handbooks and fact sheets; documentation of academic opportunities and services; and the initial request for information about the parents’ preferred language. The Office of Civil Rights will conduct reviews to ensure that the plans are being followed.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND UTILITY RIGHTS FOR LOW-INCOME CONSUMERS

ABLE intervened in two Dayton Power and Light (DP&L) PUCO cases on behalf of a community group in Dayton, The Edgemont Neighborhood Coalition. The intervention aimed to limit rate increases and to secure shut off prevention funds for use in the DP&L territory, providing access to affordable utilities for low-income Ohioans. ABLE also continued to have an attorney serving as a member of the Universal Service Administrative Company (USAC) Board of Directors. USAC administers all telecommunications universal service programs for the nation including those directed at schools and libraries, high cost areas, rural health clinics, and low-income customers. ABLE’s work contributed to the decision by the FCC to allow the Lifeline subsidy to be used for broadband service, and ABLE continues to work to ensure that the newly modified program is implemented in ways that maximize benefits to the low-income community.
IMPROVING FARMWORKER HOUSING CONDITIONS

Improving housing standards for migrant farmworkers living in agricultural camps helps to ensure a steady flow of workers, which is key to maintaining the viability of agriculture as Ohio’s top industry.

ABLE and law students from the Ohio State University Moritz College of Law won a victory for migrant farmworkers across Ohio. Conditions in most migrant camps are abysmal, with no requirement for running water in housing units or partitions between shared latrines, leaving no privacy for workers. Some common health and safety standards are also not required, such as smoke detectors in each housing unit, or regular cleaning of non-flush toilets. The students provided ground-breaking research in support of ABLE’s work on the Ohio Department of Health Agricultural Labor Camp Rule Review Committee which led to new regulations that now require running water, smoke detectors, and bedframes in the housing units provided to workers and their family members living at migrant labor camps. While there is still a long way to go, the new provisions come as a relief to the thousands of migrant farmworkers living in more than 100 agricultural camps across Ohio. Taking effect on January 1, 2017, the improved regulations and housing conditions will benefit the overall agricultural industry and boost Ohio’s competitiveness, with the goal of drawing workers to the state.

VETERANS LEGAL ADVOCACY PROJECT

The Veterans Legal Advocacy Project provides legal services for veterans, active duty military service members, and household members of veterans and active duty service members throughout ABLE’s 32-county service area.

The project provides legal representation to veterans on numerous legal issues, including housing, public benefits, VA benefits, healthcare access, homeownership preservation, domestic relations, expungements, consumer rights and bankruptcy.

Attorneys in the Veterans Legal Advocacy Project engage in extensive community outreach, legal education, and collaboration with other veterans’ advocacy services. This includes conducting legal information clinics and partnering with groups such as the Veterans Service Commission, VA Health Centers, and Veteran Treatment Courts in Toledo and Dayton.
Serving as a voice for some of the most vulnerable members of our community, ABLE’s Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program advocates for all residents of nursing homes and adult care facilities, and for consumers receiving in-home care services. The Ombudsman Program seeks resolution of problems and empowerment of residents to improve their quality of life and care. In 2016, the Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program provided assistance to more than 3,500 individuals. Staff worked on 538 cases involving 811 various complaints. The most frequent complaint was involuntary discharge and evictions from long-term care facilities. Additionally, Ombudsman staff made presentations to approximately 500 staff members of long-term care providers, and participated in numerous community education presentations and events.

HOME CHOICE PROGRAM

The Ombudsman program continued to provide coordinated transition services through the HOME Choice Program. Administered through the Ohio Department of Medicaid, the HOME Choice Program assists older adults and persons with disabilities to move from nursing homes into home and community-based settings.

Transition services include locating housing, setting up a household, and coordinating community-based services. Staff assisted 38 HOME Choice clients including 17 who successfully transitioned back into the community.

MYCARE OHIO

ABLE’s Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program was awarded a grant through the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) to expand the Ombudsman program’s services to MyCare Ohio beneficiaries, including outreach, consumer empowerment through education, complaint investigation, and person-centered complaint resolution.

In 2016, ABLE Ombudsmen spent more than 200 hours working on MyCare Ohio cases by coordinating the benefits offered through the Medicaid and Medicare programs. Their efforts helped to improve the overall health and wellbeing of the individual while also improving healthcare quality and outcomes, as well as containing costs.
DONNA’S STORY

Ombudsman Program Secures Ramp Repairs, Making Home Safe

Donna enjoyed living in her own home and getting out into the community whenever she could, despite using a wheelchair. When her ramp became deteriorated and dangerous to use, however, coming and going became a threat to Donna’s safety. An ABLE Ombudsman working with MyCare Ohio advocated for Donna with her healthcare plan provider, and succeeded in securing the repairs Donna needed. With her ramp now intact, Donna is able to safely access her community with confidence.

VIVIENNE’S STORY

Vivienne’s traffickers promised her a better-paying job and the chance to go to school in America. What they gave her when she arrived from Malawi was a brutal life of domestic servitude. For more than two years, Vivienne endured physical, sexual and psychological abuse. Attorneys from ABLE became part of Vivienne’s rescue team. They helped Vivienne acquire a T Visa so she could continue living and working in the United States. They also represented her while Vivienne assisted with a federal investigation of her traffickers. Vivienne still deals with the physical and psychological effects of her trauma. Yet she has built a wonderful life for herself, achieving self-sufficiency through her job and continuing on the path to citizenship.

SHAUNA’S STORY

Fear dominated Shauna’s life—fear of her abusive spouse, and fear for her children’s safety if she tried to leave him. A victim advocate suggested Shauna contact legal aid for help. The safety planning offered by a Legal Aid attorney was a critical first step in Shauna’s pathway out of fear. With her attorney’s help, Shauna filed for divorce. Her attorney negotiated a resolution of the case that granted Shauna full custody of her children and child support, as well as a fair division of marital property. Now, instead of living in fear, Shauna and her children are moving on with their lives.

More than 550 people were in attendance at the 17th Access to Justice Awards Dinner, held Wednesday, April 20, 2016 at The Pinnacle in Maumee. The purpose of the Access to Justice Awards is to celebrate the great work of legal aid and pro bono programs in our community; to increase critical financial support for legal services to the poor; to recognize individuals and organizations for their extraordinary service in the public interest; and to hear from a prominent national leader on the importance of equal access to justice in our society. We were pleased that the comments made by our keynote speaker, Wil Haygood, reiterated the importance of the work and services we provide to low-income people in our community. Wil is the author of The Butler and Showdown: Thurgood Marshall and the Supreme Court Nomination That Changed America.

At the dinner, we had an opportunity to honor Rochelle A. Abou-Arraj, Michael D. Hampton, Hon. Connie F. Zemmelman, and Michael J. Todak for their great contributions to equal justice in our community. Our honorees are evidence that individuals and organizations can make a difference in the lives of significant numbers of people.

The Campaign for Equal Justice combines an annual campaign, recognition reception, and a social event to bring the legal community together in support of ABLE, the Greater Dayton Volunteer Lawyers Project (GDVLP) and LAWO. All contributions to the events and to the Campaign for Equal Justice, the Access to Justice Awards Gala, and Justice on Tap! make a difference in the lives of those who need it most by making it possible for LAWO, the GDVLP, and ABLE to provide free legal assistance to low-income and disadvantaged area residents living in the Miami Valley.

A good education is the foundation for success. Students with disabilities, like Sasha, need barriers removed to ensure this foundation is secure. When Sasha began struggling academically and behaviorally in school, her mother knew Sasha needed more help than she was receiving. Sasha’s mother reached out to Legal Aid. An attorney requested a special education evaluation for Sasha and accompanied Sasha’s mother to the reporting and planning meetings. Her attorney then worked to obtain the academic and behavior supports that Sasha needed. With this help, Sasha’s mother is happy to report her daughter is doing well in school.

Thank you to donors who have stepped forward to support ABLE’s Immigration Advocacy Project. Immigrants and refugees have long been a part of our communities’ social, cultural, and economic fabric. With your support, we are able to directly assist immigrants and refugees who face many legal challenges.

Through the work of the Immigration Advocacy Project, low-income immigrants and refugees are now able to live stable, productive lives, and can continue to give back to their communities. Thank you for recognizing this legacy by funding this important project.

PASCAL’S STORY

Pascal is a 66-year-old man who originally came to the United States as a refugee from Burundi. Because of a learning disability made worse by living through Burundi’s ethnic warfare, Pascal was unable to learn to read or write in English. As a refugee and then a Lawful Permanent Resident, Pascal relied on public benefits, particularly Medicaid, to survive. When he was 65, his Medicaid was unlawfully terminated because he was not a U.S. citizen. ABLE staff worked with Pascal to file an application for naturalization with a disability exception. After two rounds of interviews with the United States Citizenship and Immigration Service Field Office, Pascal’s application for the exemption was approved. He became a U.S. citizen and his benefits were reinstated.
Thank you to all of the pro bono attorneys and supporters for your commitment to making a difference in the lives of thousands of low-income residents from northwest and west central Ohio. These individuals have generously donated a significant amount of time advocating for children and families, representing victims of domestic violence, and generally providing access to justice to those who might otherwise go unrepresented in legal matters that affect their lives and the lives of their families. Our volunteer attorneys spend a significant number of hours advocating for children and families, representing victims of domestic violence, and generally providing access to justice to those who might otherwise be overlooked. In addition to direct representation of clients, some attorneys and law firms choose to provide time on larger cases that provide for meaningful change in the lives of individuals and that result in systemic change in our legal system.

LAWO has maintained partnerships with pro bono legal services programs, including the Greater Dayton Volunteer Lawyers Project (GDVLP) and the Toledo Bar Association (TBA) Pro Bono Legal Services Program. LAWO is a major funder of the GDVLP and the TBA Pro Bono Legal Services programs. Both programs, along with ABLE and LAWO’s pro bono programs, recruit hundreds of lawyers each year who help fill the gaps for those thousands of low-income people who would otherwise go unrepresented in legal matters that affect their lives and the lives of their families. Our volunteer attorneys spend a significant number of hours advocating for children and families, representing victims of domestic violence, and generally providing access to justice to those who might otherwise be overlooked. In addition to direct representation of clients, some attorneys and law firms choose to provide time on larger cases that provide for meaningful change in the lives of individuals and that result in systemic change in our legal system.

Our 2016 Pro Bono Partners

Thank you to all of the pro bono attorneys and supporters for your commitment to making a difference in the lives of thousands of low-income residents from northwest and west central Ohio. These individuals have generously donated a significant amount of time advocating for children and families, representing victims of domestic violence, and generally providing access to justice to those who might otherwise be overlooked. Their efforts change the lives of low-income people and help ensure that more people can get the legal help they need. If you would like to join this list of generous individuals, contact the Private Attorney Involvement Program by visiting probono.lawolaw.org or by calling (419) 930-2479.

In 2011, Phil retired from Marathon Petroleum Company where he served as general counsel and participated in the company’s pro bono program with LAWO. “I maintain an active license so that I am able to continue to do pro bono work,” he says. Phil is compelled by his ethical and personal beliefs to assist others. “There are people who cannot afford legal services who desperately need help.” Since his retirement, Phil has provided pro bono services through the LAWO Pro Bono LiveChat Project, a unique opportunity for attorneys to expand their potential for volunteer work without a large time commitment. Pro Bono attorneys assist in providing “chat-based” counsel and advice in civil legal matters to eligible low-income clients via web-based technology. The project leverages existing online communication tools and matches low-income persons with pro bono attorneys based on availability and expertise. “Since my retirement, I have been able to continue helping clients in need from my home through the LiveChat project. The training is short and simple and provides for CLE credit. Legal Aid makes it easy and provides technical and legal support.”

LILAH’S STORY

Access to justice helps people become self-reliant. Lilah took control and protected her family from homelessness with the help of the legal counsel she received from LAWO. Lilah’s new landlord was a Limited Liability Company (LLC) who wanted to evict the single mother and her young child from their home of three years. Lilah contacted LAWO and was provided with legal counsel to help her handle the unwarranted eviction. After hearing the facts of the case and reviewing court and auditor records, her attorney informed Lilah that since the property was owned by a LLC, the company must be represented by an attorney in a legal action. Lilah’s landlord, however, had filed the eviction without an attorney. This became Lilah’s defense to the eviction action, and she was able to get the case dismissed as a result. Supported by the legal advice she received from her LAWO attorney, Lilah achieved success and security for her family.

Jackie, a forty-year-old mother of two young children, came to the LAWO offices located in the Lucas County Department of Jobs and Family Services for help when her wages were being garnished for an old debt she had incurred when she was younger. Because her family received food assistance, Jackie was eligible for LAWO services. Her attorney reviewed her case and found that Jackie’s wages were being improperly garnished. As a result, her LAWO attorney was successful in negotiating the return of more than $3,000 in garnished funds to Jackie. Jackie is working with LAWO to review what her options are in preventing any future wage garnishments.

Civil legal aid is critical to fulfilling our nation’s promise of justice for all. ABLE and LAWO serve people of all backgrounds and ages, including the most vulnerable who face the toughest civil legal challenges: children, veterans, seniors, people with disabilities, and survivors of domestic violence. As the primary providers of free legal services for low-income people in our service area, our work is to ensure that no individual or family in our community is deprived of access to professional legal assistance solely because of an inability to pay.

Those who come to us for help are in crisis, with most facing financial emergencies and struggling to meet life’s basic needs. The numbers of people living in poverty is staggering—48 percent of the U.S. population is considered poor or low-income. That is one in every two people.

Behind the numbers are real people—our friends and neighbors—who deserve the chance to achieve genuine and lasting improvement in their quality of life. The pressures of poverty, including housing and medical costs, inadequate government safety net programs, and poor educational opportunities, are what bring people to the breaking point.

Our advocates help navigate the justice system for those who do not understand how to do it for themselves, or who cannot afford a private attorney. We are dedicated to empowering people to rebuild their lives and become independent and self-sufficient. Our work combines community outreach, education, litigation, and legislative advocacy—all aimed at making a real difference in the lives of our clients and our communities.
